IndieCollect's new 4K restoration of JAZZ ON A SUMMER'S DAY sold out immediately. But the New York Film Festival has just scheduled an encore screening.

Sunday, October 13, at 5:15 pm
Francesca Beale Theater, Elinor Bunin Monroe Film Center
144 West 65th Street
Tickets on sale September 22

Bert Stern on the Making of his Iconic Film
Check out this wonderful excerpt about the making of JAZZ from Shannah Laurmeister-Stern's documentary, Bert Stern: Original Mad Man.

Why Critics Have Loved this Movie

Pauline Kael, June 24, 1974
Bert Stern's camera style is so infectiously live that we're caught up in the festival's happy lazy-day atmosphere. In the evening, when Mahalia Jackson, in her majestic chest-tones, sings the word 'soul', she defines it for all time.

Dave Kehr, New York Daily News, July 25, 1997
Stern has captured a moment in American history that proved to be tragically brief, when members of different races, different classes and different generations could unselfconsciously come together to create and appreciate the same music.

Gene Seymour, New York Newsday, July 25, 1997
…the music and non-musical footage flow into each other like a sweet dream of a New England summer from which you never want to awake.

Jessica Lustig,TimeOut New York, July 24, 1997
…a trip to the beach and a first-rate jazz primer in one great package.

Don't Miss Your Chance!
Tickets for the encore screening go on sale Sunday, September 22. Respond quickly if you wish to get a seat. Ticket link here.

See you at the cinema!
