Fire Drill Friday on Capitol Hill with Jane Fonda
November 15, 2019

Catherine Wyler and I attended Jane Fonda's Fire Drill Friday demo along with other members of Jane's squad, Nancy Steen-Adams and Monica Bellais.

Donors to our Jane Fonda fund for women directors, artist Nancy Steen-Adams (at right) and her daughter Monica Bellais, screenwriter and producer.

Jane is creating a platform for environment justice advocates from around the U.S. and around the world.

Breaking Free from Plastic

I was particularly excited to hear Von Hernandez speak because I had just seen him in the powerful new documentary, THE STORY OF PLASTIC, by Deia Schlosberg. From the Philippines, Von Hernandez is Global Coordinator of the Break Free from Plastic movement. See the film and support the movement: #breakfreefromplastic.

Calusa Waterkeeper

Robert Kennedy Jr., founder & president of the Waterkeeper Alliance, made a really powerful speech, and was later arrested. My brother KC Schullberg is Executive Director of the Florida affiliate, Calusa Waterkeeper, headquartered in Naples, where he and John Cassani are doing fantastic work.

Film Industry Colleagues & Jane's Co-Stars

GreenLatinos

Latinos fighting for environmental justice included Mark Magana, CEO of GreenLatinos, and Yvette Arellano.

Getting involved with Jane has been an inspiration to Catherine and me, and to all of us at IndieCollect.

More news to come on changes we are making to cut down on our use of plastic.

Wishing you a very happy thanksgiving,
Sandra Schulberg and the IndieCollect Team

PS: Don't forget that we are still raising funds to restore more films by women directors. To join Jane, Catherine, Nancy and our other donors, make your tax-deductible gift here.
