Lauded by one critic as "classic Western filmmaking with the lucid lyricism of a John Ford, a Budd Boetticher, a George Stevens," the film features stunning performances by Rosalind Chao & Chris Cooper. Watch the trailer

The original film elements were digitized by IndieCollect using our Kinetta Archival Scanner and color correction was supervised by the filmmakers. As they acknowledge, it looks better than the original film version. Their negative had been damaged during the 1989 Loma Prieta earthquake; the digital restoration was able to make that damage invisible.

Sandra Schulberg will conduct an on-stage dialogue with the filmmakers following the screening.

Please join us for this celebratory screening!
